January 2024
Welcome to another good news quarter!
As Community Pharmacy has continued to over-deliver on retained margin, there is a further reduction in Category M prices: https://cpe.org/news/january-2024-category-m-prices-announced/
So an average drop in Category M item value of 14p but even better news for those who use large amounts of apixaban where the price has fallen by another two thirds. This means that the price has dropped by over 90% from that of the brand. I estimate that in primary care alone that the NHS over £90M a year and all because someone didn't file a patent correctly - wow!
Thus Category M prices are mainly down again but as in previous quarters, there are some increases and those reductions may be temporary concessions of which there were 155 in December perhaps one of the worst months ever for concessions, at least in terms of number.
One significant Category M increase is that for atorvastatin, with all strengths up by around two thirds. However this just "bakes in" previous concession prices although for all but 80mg, this month's prices are more than last month's concession price.
Other price changes of note in the usual BNF Chapter order:
Both strengths of pantoprazole tablets are up: 20mg more than double to 281 taking its price beyond that of 40mg which is not far short of 278.
Ivabradine 5mg is down by just over half to 1253 whereas 7.5 mg drops by just over a quarter to 382.
Ranolazine is down again, but only by 1% so all strengths now 4732 for 60. As long as this remains a Category A line, very small monthly drops may be the best we can hope for.
Melatonin 2mg m/r tablets drop again and are now 449 for 30.
Lower strengths of aripiprazole are down again, and again by around a third. However Category A 30mg is far more "sticky" and falls less to 2895.
Price rises for atomoxetine look like they're now leveling out, with most strengths up by just 5% this time.
Betahistine is a new riser with 8 and 16mg up 3 and 4 fold respectively.
After recent rises, zolmitriptan is now a rather expensive triptan. There are more strengths and forms than I show below, but all oral forms dearer than other oral triptans.
Prize for this month's biggest riser, and perhaps one of the largest ever increases from one month to the next, goes to riluzole 50mg tablets remarkable 34.5 times to over £300 for 56. I believe this product is in short supply.
After recent rises, clarithromycin tablets now come back down, dropping by around two fifths so 14x250mg now 268 and 14x500mg now 517.
Not previously included but inserted this time because its price dropped by half, the metformin 1g / sitagliptin 50mg combination is now 154.
Sitagliptin tablets themselves are down again, but much more so this time with 100mg dropping by the greatest amount - over two thirds to 1979.
After rising significantly in the fairly recent past, fusidic acid eye drops come down by over a third to 1979.
Some unwelcome price increases to end with:
Beclometasone 50mcg nasal spray moves from Category M to A and rises by a third to 317.
Hydrocortisone 1% cream makes the same move between categories and nearly doubles in price to 322 for 30mg.
These and some other fairly significant price changes highlighted below.
